

School of Graduate Studies and Research

Invites faculty, staff, and students to attend

Faculty Research Colloquium

Dr. Khaleda Al Mansoori

Chair & Assistant Professor of Languages & Literature Department
School of Arts & Sciences

“Emarati Dialect and Culture”

3:00-4:00 PM, Tuesday, October 18, 2016
Building G, Ground Floor, G103 Conference Room

Abstract

This lecture targets the Arabic non-native Speakers. The lecture will focus on the Emarati Dialect (Ramsa) daily words and common words, and the Emarati culture. The presenter want the faculty, staff, and students to have a unique experience by learning a bit of the Emirati dialect from an Emirati native speaker and have better insights of the Emirati culture.

About the Speaker

Dr. Khaleda Al Mansoori has been involved in TEFL for more than 39 years. She has been a teacher, teacher educator and curriculum developer in the UAE. Her interests include TEFL, Teacher Education, and Research. She has B.Ed. (English), PD in ELTA, MA in ELT and a PhD in Education (TEFL). She obtained her doctorate from the University of Exeter in Education (Teacher Preparation and Training). She has taught at several academic institutions in the UAE. She joined AURAK in 2015. She is currently the Chair of Languages and Literature Department, the School of Arts and Sciences.